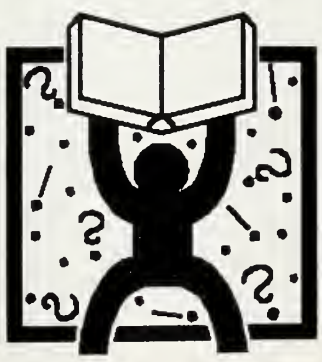
Dear members of the Class of 1996:

Thank you for giving me the opportunity to address you in your Yearbook. This is the first time I have had the honor of writing this message, and it gives me great pleasure to do so.

The theme you have chosen for your class, "Future Changes and Past Traditions," has provided me with a myriad of images. It has made me ponder and reflect deeply which, I am sure, is part of your message to your classmates.

For graduating college students, the theme is apt. The only thing certain about your future is change — personally and globally. The cyber world is upon us, and we can't, even if we want to, return to a purely "digital" world. And yet, in this age of virtual reality and almost instant worldwide communication, there are some things — some traditions and civilities and gentler human interactions — that should not change. Let me elaborate.

We pride ourselves at Merrimack College in providing a state-of-the-art education while, at the same time, giving our students a real sense of our tradition. We want both for our students — the best of what is new and the best of the past — because, we firmly believe, both are important in helping you discover how you should lead your lives. Humans do not live by bread alone; they need nourishment for their souls as well as nourishment for their bodies, and at Merrimack we believe we give you the means for both.



You can never be prepared fully for the changes and challenges you will meet in the future but, with the basis of your family and religious traditions, and the traditions we hope you have come to revere at Merrimack College, we believe that you will have the wherewithal to meet those changes creatively and in a way that will enrich your life.

You leave Merrimack College steeped in the Augustinian tradition of hospitality, respect for your fellow humans, and reverence for the spiritual. It will serve you well as you face the changes ahead.

Sincerely,
Richard J. Santagati
President

MERRIMACK COLLEGE

TOLLE LEGE TOLLE LEGE

PER SCIENTIAM AD SAPIENTIAM

A·D· 1947

THIS IS THE SEAL OF MERRIMACK COLLEGE

Its heraldry deeply symbolic...
Waving lines of blue and gold, representing the Merrimack River, Merru-asquam-ack, the place of swift water.... our college has already made tremendous strides in becoming a veritable fountainhead of Christian culture and advancement for all those entering its stream of activities.
"a trimount of the field charged with a cross fleurette," a part of the coat of arms of Archbishop Cushing, under whose patronage the College was established, representing Trimount, the original appellation of Boston.
a child's voice saying "tolle lege, tolle lege" (take up and read, take up and read) led to the conversion of St. Augustine and the dedication of his life to Christ.
"per scientiam ad sapientiam," (through knowledge to wisdom,) the ultimate purpose of Merrimack College . . . only through the valid combination of intellectual and spiritual knowledge of God and the world can we attain the fullness of wisdom.
College colors, blue for the fidelity of the Mother of God, and gold for the wisdom of the true Church form the chromatic basis of the seal of Merrimack College, devoted to Mary under the title of Our Mother of Good Counsel, and under her protection.

Be it known that this book

Robert

is hereby Dedicated to Mr.

O'Brien

Robert O'Brien, a lifelong resident of North Andover, graduated from Merrimack College in 1973. During his college years, Bob served as Secretary of the Junior and Senior classes, was listed in Who's Who in American Colleges and Universities, was Chairman of the Political Science Council, a staff assistant for the Warrior, the College newspaper, and recipient of the 1973 Senior Service Award. After graduation he worked at the National Gallery of Art in Washington, D.C.

Bob returned to Merrimack College in 1979 as an assistant to the Library Director (his mother, Ellenora worked as a dormitory supervisor in Ash Center for 22 years). He presently holds the position of Operations Manager. In his seventeen years at Merrimack, Bob has been involved with numerous committees, most recently the 50th Anniversary Committee.

In his work at the McQuade Library, Bob has hired and seen graduate over 500 student assistants. He has served as their supervisor, friend, and a mentor. Many of these students have asked Bob to be references while seeking jobs. He has successfully helped many of these graduates gaining jobs ranging from the major banking positions to members of successful presidential campaigns.

Bob is personable and easy going, always having the time to listen and share his thoughts. He is very well liked and respected at Merrimack College, the school he feels such strong ties to. He, like many other people, have worked faithfully and unselfishly to make what the Merrimack College is today and what it will be in the future.

Mr. President, Members of the Boards, Faculty, Staff, and Students:

You and I share a vision of Student Government.

We believe in a Student Government that has open lines of communication between administrators, faculty, staff, and students. We believe in a Student Government where the members are able to effectuate guidelines for the common good of our academic community, and we believe in a Student Government that gives all members of Merrimack College, a clear voice in the policy making procedures.

In my four years at Merrimack College, I have worked to uphold the high standards the Student Government Association (SGA) demands from itself, and from the community it serves. The skills I learned through my experience as Chairman of the SGA Budget Control Committee, and Treasurer of SGA, helped prepare me for my role as President of SGA, and as President of the Delta Phi Kappa fraternity.

During my tenure as President of SGA, I gained a better understanding of the College, and its customs, but more importantly, I gained a better understanding of its people. Together, we enacted tough policies aimed at improving the quality of life on campus, including: a smoking policy, an animal control policy, a public safety jumper cable service, and a student/community van service.

As a recognized and respected campus Board, we delivered a unanimous vote of confidence for Merrimack College's incoming President, Richard J. Santagati, and our organization played an active role in welcoming our newest President into our community during his October 1995 inauguration.

It was a great honor and privilege to serve as the President of the Student Government Association for Merrimack College in 1995-1996. It is with grea pride that I pass the legacy, established through my time as President of SGA, to the next class.

Here's to the future,

Albert P. Manzi, III
President, SGA, 1996

Alpha Delta Gamma

Alpha Delta Gamma fraternity was founded in Chicago in 1924 and presently has 15 chapters nationwide. It was in 1987 that the colony formed at Merrimack College was recognized as a chapter of this national organization.

Since then, the brothers of ADG at Merrimack have been dedicated to serving the college as well as the local community. Their contributions from last year alone include a street hockey tournament they sponsored by April, active participation in the Big Brother program of Lawrence, and co-sponsorship of a successful fundraiser to benefit the fight against muscular dystrophy and cystic fibrosis.

The brothers of Alpha Delta Gamma would like to congratulate all the brothers of the Class of 1996! Also, "A brother who is helped by a brother is like a city walled."

American Marketing Association

AMA members take time out of dinner to pose for a group picture at the International Collegiate Conference in New Orleans, Louisiana.

AMA President, Tony Silva, holds the AMA Hutchinson Award received while in New Orleans.

The Merrimack College Chapter of the American Marketing Association has had a successful year of programs and activities. Our goal is to bring together the college community with the field of marketing. We were able to sponsor both social and academic activities on and off campus that helped to expand our members' knowledge of marketing. Over the past year the Marketing Association increased membership and proved by our wide array of non marketing members that one does not have to concentrate on a major in marketing to enjoy the benefits of membership.

Traditionally, the Merrimack Marketing Association has been actively involved in sponsoring charitable events. We began in the fall by participating in the Walk for Breast Cancer and along with Merrimaction we Co-sponsored the annual canned food drive. During Halloween we took the Boys and Girls Club of Lawrence trick or treating on campus and then played all the traditional Halloween games with them. Our members also gave back to the college, donating their time to the Admission's Office to give tours to prospective freshmen. We also donated money to the Oklahoma fund.

We had a successful marketing week in which we went bowling with Fidelity House, and held a Commercial Bowl of the Superbowl commercials.

American Marketing Association

The fall and spring semesters were successful with our annual fundraising activity — the Survival Kits. Thanks to the love and commitment of so many students' parents we were once again able to bring a little sunshine to students during the final exam period.

In the fall, five active members were able to attend the Annual Northeast Regional Conference located at West Virginia University. The weekend was full of new learning experiences, networking and lots of fun. In April, the Marketing Association was able to attend the International Collegiate Conference in New Orleans, Louisiana. We were proud to send the Executive Board members and two outstanding members. The Merrimack Chapter participated in the annual awards banquet and was awarded "Best Community Service" and "Marketing Week" awards by the American Marketing Association. This was a true honor as it exemplified our efforts to make our chapter the best it can be.

The ARGUS

Three students walked into the Argus office for the first time, wondering what the school newspaper was all about. Four years later, we knew more about running a newspaper than any of us ever wanted to know. Year after year, new people joined while others left, yet the three people stayed the same, Linda Dainis (Editor-in-Chief), Doug Farmer (Managing Editor), and Christopher Cummings (Layout Editor).

Sure there were hard times, trying to figure out how to run a newspaper in one easy lesson (which didn't work), trying to meet deadlines, trying to figure out how to turn on the computer, trying to deal with all the red tape at Merrimack, trying not to fall asleep at the computer at 2 A.M., and most of all, trying to stick to topics at meetings. I'll always remember Chris' laughter when I said, "I know we have to send it out in an hour, but can we still fit this in?" My curiosity over whether there would still be a newspaper when I came back from England. Doug's anger about stupid complaints. Sure, we all got upset here and there, but we got through.

The Argus now has more news, sports, editorials, and especially more opinions from students, even if some do raise a few questions. And yet, how can you learn if you don't question everything around you?

Special thanks to Kristen Picariello for her work as Advertising Director, Marguerite Kane for her support as our Advisor, and Chris Iacono for his submissions to Arts and Lifestyles. Thanks to Karen Lenihan for her assistance in layout. A very special thanks to Sarah Davis for her work as Advertising Director/ Proofreader/Therapist/Anarchist.

— Linda Dainis

Budget Control Committee

Commuter Council

The joke: A resident student dies and finds St. Peter waiting for him outside of heaven. "To get into heaven," St. Peter says, "You must pass one final test: Spell God." The resident does and proceeds into heaven. A commuter student dies and finds St. Peter waiting for him outside of heaven. St. Peter tells the commuter that to get in, he has to pass one last test. The commuter protests: "My car breaks down weekly, I'm alienated from my school, I can barely stay awake in class because I work all night, and now you want to give me another test?" St. Peter says, "Yes." The commuter sighs and agrees to the test. St. Peter says, "To get into heaven, Spell Melchizedek."

The reality: At Merrimack College, resident students constitute some sixty percent of the student population, so the college concentrates primarily on meeting resident needs. In this process, commuters are often neglected. During my junior year, I got tired of this neglect. I gathered four like-minded people and, together we revamped a fossilized organization called the Commuter Council.

As Commuter Council president, I presented my ideas for rebuilding the Commuter Council to the directors of Student Activities and Student Life. If we created a common meeting ground for commuters I proposed, we could mobilize commuters, interest them in campus life, and then everyone could work together to see that all voices on campus were heard and all needs were met. Commuters are an important piece of our community, I argued; we just don't know it yet.

Within four months, the Commuter Council renovated its office space with a cable television, a VCR, a computer, a microwave, couches, new carpeting, and — after one or two threatening phone calls to physical plant and to student life — an asbestos-free lounge. In March 1995, the Commuter Council hung up fliers announcing its rebirth. We thought months of hard labor were going to pay off big. Little did we know it would — in disappointment. We figured that we could bring commuters to the Commuter Council. We were wrong. We needed to bring the Commuter Council to commuters. To that end, we composed and circulated Commuter Council pamphlets, we mailed memoranda to faculty to read during class, we gave speeches in the quad, and we telephoned commuters at home petitioning them to join. This "personal" approach worked.

When commuters saw they were needed, they responded. In two short semesters, the Commuter Council grew from five members to over seventy. Former commuters like the college President and the Dean of Faculty and Liberal Arts visit our lounge. They want us to succeed because they remember when they, as commuters, were unorganized and marginalized. Now commuters are becoming a prominent group on campus. We've made it clear it our involvement in campus politics and activities that we will not be ignored. I'm proud to say that we've helped commuters realize that we do have a voice — that in fact, we always have. We just didn't know how to use it.

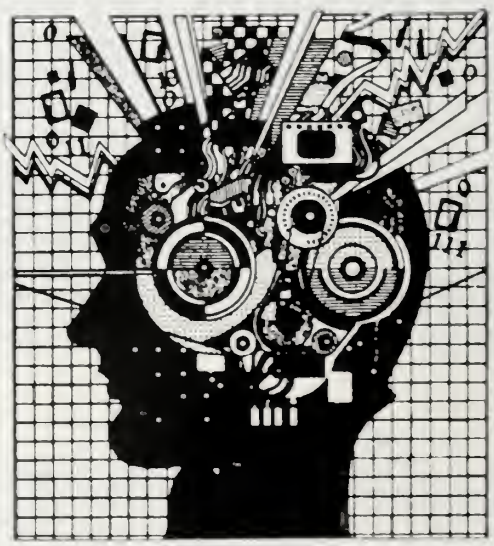
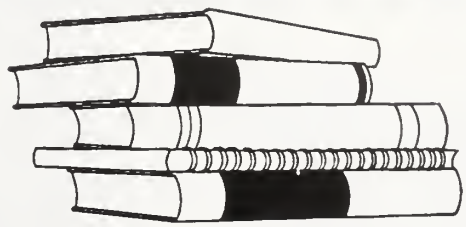
The Institute of Electrical and Electronics Engineers (IEEE) is a worldwide technical professional society devoted to advancing the theory and application of electrical engineering, electronics, and computing. The IEEE promotes the development of electrotechnology and allied sciences to better humanity. The chairman of the IEEE Merrimack College Student Branch for the last three years is a graduating senior, Mike Snyder; our faculty advisor, in his first year at the job, is Professor Rit Chiang. This past year the IEEE constructed a micromouse for the IEEE Regional Student Micromouse Competition and held Senior Project Day '96, where alumni, faculty, and students gathered together to view presentations and demonstrations of electrical engineering students and senior projects. The IEEE also invites guest lecturers to speak on important topics in electrical engineering, and tours companies and institutions of interest in the area. The IEEE holds general meetings each week to plan activities and events. IEEE membership is open to all electrical engineering, computer science, and related arts & sciences majors.



Math Club



The Math Club, otherwise known as Mathematical Connections, is a newly-founded club at Merrimack College. It was started by seniors Gail Goddard (President spring-fall semesters 1995) and Colleen Hennessy (Vice-President spring-fall semesters 1995) in the spring semester of 1995, with a big help from our faculty advisor, Dr. Michael Bradley. We owe thanks to the Mathematics Department for their support.

Our goals are to educate our members on such mathematical topics as careers, graduate studies, and selection of courses; to develop an awareness of the mathematical needs everywhere; and to discover new interests. The Math Club has hosted Career Nights, has attended mathematical conferences, and has participated in an SAT math prep. course at the Urban Institute. This year we hope to recruit more members, invite a mathematics lecturer to Merrimack, and do more work with mathematics in the community. We are a diverse and fun-filled bunch!

Merrimaction

Merrimaction is Merrimack in Action. It offers an umbrella of volunteer activities for all members of the Merrimack community. It is our chance to help those who are less fortunate and show our gratitude and appreciation for what we have. Volunteer opportunities include a Physical Therapy Program at Ironstone Farm, Bowling with Fidelity House, HIV Meal and Daffodil Days, among others. The Alternative Spring Break Trip is an annual event, when students perform urban renewal projects in major cities. Special events like Earth Day and Peace and Justice Week are celebrated with great enthusiasm. A large number of volunteers also participate in the Walk for Hunger.

On a cold February Morning College students from all across the United States, Europe, Asia, and Latin America converged on Boston, Massachusetts for the Harvard National Model U.N. A delegation of 10 students from Merrimack College represented the nation of Laos. We spent an entire weekend in committee meetings and debates. Highlights of the weekend included tours of Harvard University, a delegate Dance and a special awards ceremony at the end of the event. Although Team Merrimack did not win any awards, many of the delegates were commended by officials for a great effort during the weekend. The event was a great time to get to know people from other schools and countries, as well as a time to shed ones own persona and take on that of a delegate representing a nation in a multi-nation assembly. The Model U.N. is a unique experience that I enjoyed being a part of, and look forward to being part of this event next year.

Nu Phi Kappa (Now PKT)

The brothers of Nu Phi Kappa were proud to announce that they were going back to their national fraternity, Phi Kappa Theta. We have discussed this possibility many times over the years, but this time we decided to go through with it one hundred percent. The 40 re-founding fathers of Phi Kappa Theta, are going to carry on the image and traditions that Nu Phi Kappa has carried over the years throughout the Merrimack Community.

Phi Kappa Theta strives to help others and the community around us. Every semester we have held our Red Cross Blood Drive, and we have also hone bowling with the mentally challenged from the Fidelity House. Inside the college community, we are always ready to lend a helping hand, from being an active part of the Orientation Program to becoming casino dealers for Merrimack's Parent Weekend. Something new that we did this year was participating in the Boys and Girls Club Halloween Party. Several groups on campus set up different little events on campus for the Boys and Girls Club of Lawrence. One of our alumni, Rob Williams, also the Resident Director of Monican, set up the event and contacted the children. The event was a huge success, and a lot of fun.

Aside from helping out the community, the brothers of Phi Kappa Theta strive to improve the social aspect of life. We had our Annual Back to School Bash, at the beginning of last semester, and last year we had our second Pig Roast on Monican Field. We also sponsored our Annual Volleyball tournament, and we have been in the works for an Alumni Brother Basketball tournament. We finish off the semester with our fraternity weekend, which consists of our formal on Friday, followed by a day in Boston and a Red Sox game.

The brothers of Phi Kappa Theta would like to take this opportunity to thank everyone that has helped throughout the year.

Orientation Committee

Orientation is an effort on the part of Merrimack College to help entering students make a successful transition to the Merrimack environment. The Orientation program here at Merrimack assists entering students in academic, social, personal, interpersonal, and spiritual demands. Qualified upper class students are trained as effective leaders of the orientation process. While peer-oriented, the program is one which attempts to provide the new students with a comprehensive understanding of the institution.

Sigma Phi Omega

Founded in 1988, Sigma Phi Omega has brought a diverse group of female college students close together to form friendships that will last a lifetime. Known to many as the "Spo Cats", the group not only strives to build strong relationships with each other, but work together to benefit the college community, both academically and socially. We have actively participated in fundraising, which includes sponsoring Tuck-ins, a great success and enjoyed by all involved, donations to the hospital burn unit, involvement with the Lazarus House in Lawrence, visiting homeless shelters, and sponsoring off campus parties, for students to get out and enjoy themselves with friends. We, the sisters of Sigma Phi Omega, would like to thank our advisor Carolyn Labenski for all her time and support. We would also like to wish all the members of the senior class, especially our graduating sisters, happiness and success in the future. We will miss them.

Celebrating 200 years of

On Friday, April 19, 1996, five students and the Campus Ministry Team left for Philadelphia, Pennsylvania to celebrate the 200th anniversary of the Augustinians in the United States. On Friday night thousands of people gathered in Olde Saint Augustine's Church in Philadelphia for a solemn evening of prayer. Fr. John Deegan, O.S.A., Prior Provincial of the Province of Saint Thomas of Villanova and former President of Merrimack was the celebrant of the evening of prayer. The five students were chosen to process in and out holding the Merrimack banner, Tim Carey was chosen to proclaim a reading, and Sr. Elaine Polcari was chosen to carry the incense. A reception followed at the Holiday Inn.

The next morning Merrimack has the honor of being present at 9:00 mass which was celebrated by Fr. Miguel Angel Orcasitas, O.S.A., Prior General of the Order of Saint Augustine.

A visit to Philadelphia would not be complete without seeing some of the sites! After mass we were given a tour of our sister school, Villanova University. The campus was absolutely beautiful but Merrimack still feels like home. After our tour we headed to Philadelphia to see the sites. We toured Independence Hall, saw the Liberty Bell, and some of us even has the chance to see the city from a horse drawn carriage ride. Unfortunately, the two days flew by and early Sunday morning we headed for home.

As we celebrate the 200th anniversary of the Augustinians in the United States we look forward to "Sharing the Fire" for another 200 years to come.

Christmas Party & Tree Lighting

On December 7, 1995 the entire Merrimack College Community was invited to attend the annual Christmas Party/Tree Lighting. The afternoon began at Collegiate Church of Christ the Teacher with a service entitled "Festival of Light and Hope", then the annual tree lighting outside the church. The Merrimack Chorale sung Christmas Carols and then everyone proceeded to Murray Lounge for food, drinks, and of course an opportunity to sit on Santa's lap.

New Student Leadership Symposium

On January 21, 1996 the new student leaders of Merrimack gathered for a day of fun and learning. The day began with some activities designed to get everyone pumped up for the rest of the day activities. After that everyone broke up into small groups to explore different aspects of leadership which ranged from organizing a meeting to preparing and understanding a budget. A speaker later on in the day caught everyone's attention and lunch was served after that. The last part of the day centered on a round table discussion with College Administrators. President Santigati, Provost Theodore Long, and Chief Cain from Public Safety were among the many Administrators who held discussions with the new student leaders of the college.

The New Student Leadership Retreat was held in November 1995 at the Rolling Ridge Conference Center in North Andover. The retreat is specifically designed for new students who were hand picked after being reviewed by their Admissions application. These students were involved in leadership roles in high schools and Merrimack hopes this tradition will continue. Over the retreat weekend students were involved in "ropes course" activities, discussion groups, and various other activities. The weekend gives students a chance to get to know one another and learn more about leadership opportunities at the college.

Perspective on Merrimack

Perspective on Merrimack

From the Editors . . .

Freshman Year . . . what can I say, it was FRESHMAN YEAR. I dunno about anyone else, but it wasn't as bad as I was warned it would be. I think I survived. The teachers didn't look like satan. Nor did they grade like him with a temper problem. I guess it was all just rumors and superstition. But what I say is that if anyone told me a year ago that I would be doing everything I have been in my freshman year, I probably would have throttled them to wake them from their drunken stupor. This year has been a great one at Merrimack.

I would like to also take this opportunity to thank some of the people along the way. I want to thank everybody who helped make this book happen. I would also like to thank all the great people who I worked with on the Newspaper. I would like to say thank you to all my friends who have been such a great support (family included). Most of all, I want to thank the Merrimack College Community for accepting me into their family.

On a lighter note: Can anyone explain to me what the story is behind the picture on the last page of the Senior Formal section? The one with the black eye and two bottles. I gather the possible explanation for this one would be rather amusing.

Well, I assume that you are probably wishing you hadn't started reading this. But, look on the bright side. At least I didn't tell any stupid, stale jokes. Okay, since it s probably a safe bet that you are as sick of reading this as I am tired of typing it, I'll stop here (no cheering please!!) Good luck to all who read this book (especially this page) and God Bless . . .

As I write to you it's the beginning of August and in the next few weeks the final pages of the book will be shipped off for publication. Two words come to mind when people ask me how the first year as Editor-in-Chief of the 1996 Merrimackan went — changing and learning.

I had heard rumors that if no one came forward to help, Merrimack might not have a yearbook this year. I decided to attend a few meetings and see what it was all about. The strange thing is I still feel like it was only yesterday that I found myself sitting in Murray Lounge being congratulated that I was the new Editor of the yearbook. I never thought that I would find myself in that position so soon, considering that I had just begun my freshman year at Merrimack a month before. Many people couldn't believe that I was a freshman and in charge of a yearbook that I knew virtually nothing about but that soon changed. That next month was probably the most difficult as we began to hold additional meetings to elect other E-Board members. We met with Student Government and the Director of Student Activities on countless occasions making sure that all our questions and concerns were answered and our fears eased just a bit. Unfortunately, everything didn't come together all at once — everyday was a new adventure and there was never a dull moment especially when deadlines were fast approaching.

Just by flipping through the book you can find evidence of the changes we made, but more important is the learning process that occurred even as the pages were being laid out. Granted, I worked on my high school yearbook where I was Assistant Editor and then Editor but I realized I still had so much more to learn. Putting together a college yearbook is so much more work and I soon realized that I not only had to play a leadership role but each member was a player and together we all formed a team that needed to work together. Of course, there were many ups and downs but I realized that to be able to learn from those experiences is the best lesson to learn of all. Believe me, there were days when I was ready to "throw in the towel" as people say, but I gradually learned to take one day at a time and continue on.

I sincerely hope that you have enjoyed looking through the 1996 Merrimackan as much as we have enjoyed putting it together. This yearbook attempted to cover many different aspects of Merrimack and I hope that we have succeeded. We attempted to make some changes and we hope you agree with our changes. In the next few weeks our focus will shift from the '96 book to the '97 book. We have a lot of work ahead of us considering the multitude of events happening on campus to celebrate the 50th anniversary of the college but we are eager to take on another adventure. We are always looking for new members to join so don't be shy — come to the office and introduce yourself we would love to have you as part of our staff.

So until the next yearbook is published, enjoy flipping through this yearbook which helps form part of the history of Merrimack College.

Phil D'Agati (Co-Editor) — We can finally say that the 1996 Merrimackan is complete and soon we begin planning the '97 book. Even though this first year was filled with ups and downs we made it through all the obstacles we faced. Thanks for your help — especially when Diana and I needed to learn how to use the computer.

Lisa Etsell (Layout Editor) — Thanks for taking over the position as layout editor late in the year. And thanks for always bringing a laugh to our meetings!

Doug Farmer (Club/Organizations Editor) — Thanks for all your efforts when trying to organize dates and times for club photos.

Mike Potvin (Sports Editor) — Thanks for all your efforts in getting team pictures and statistics when certain road blocks occurred. Your dedication to the yearbook is much appreciated. On a personal note — thanks for putting up with me when I was stressed out beyond belief! Thanks for always being there for me whenever I need you.

Donna Welch (Photography Editor) — Thanks for helping us out when it came to taking different candids and residents. Your help is much appreciated.

A big thank you needs to go out to Maryellen Colliton! Thanks for everything that you did for us this year. We could never have gotten through this first year without all your help.

A special thank you goes out to President Santagati. Thank you for taking the time to meet with us when we asked you to write a message in the yearbook.

Thank you to all the Administration, Faculty & Staff who took the time to let us photograph each of you. You each helped make the yearbook even better.

Thank you to Guy Garon, our Jostens Advisor, for putting up with us but also being very patient with us when we had endless questions and concerns.

Thank you to everyone at Purdy-Vantine Studios, especially Terry Bleiler and Scott Gauge, for helping us out in so many ways. Being able to come on campus and take so many pictures made our life just a little bit easier.

Thank you to all the Clubs & Organizations who took the time to schedule appointments to have your picture taken. As well as those who submitted their own photos and write-ups. This is what helps make our yearbook great!
